LOUISBURG FEMALE COLLEGE.

REV. T. M. JONES, A. M., Pres't and Proprietor.

THE EXERCISES OF THIS INSTITUTION

will begin on the second Wednesday in January, 1866.

Louisburg is a village seldom surpassed for health, intelligence, refinement and morality. It is in Franklin County, nine miles from Franklinton, on the R. and Gaston Railroad. Between these points there is a daily stage line, connecting with trains going North and South.

The College building, located in a beautiful grove, on an elevated site, is large, commodious and well ventilated. It will be thoroughly renovated, and fitted up with neat furniture and fire places for the dormitories. It is our purpose to establish for young ladies a school of the highest grade, affording superior facilities for the acquisition of a thorough and accomplished education.

With the advantages of a good library, a well selected Chemical and Philosophical apparatus, a competent Faculty, and large experience in connection with the Greensboro Female College, we hope, by a faithful discharge of duty, to merit a liberal share of patronage. Boarding pupils will live as members of the President's family. Terms desiring to send their daughters, will please address me, for the present, at Greensboro, N. C., and circulars will be sent.

OF RANDOLPH.

THE PEOPLE must be trusted with their Government, and if trusted, my opinion is that they will act in good faith, and restore their former constitutional relations with all the States composing the Union. — Andrew Johnson's Letter to Gov. Sharkey, of Mississippi.

THE NATIONAL UNION PARTY. We acknowledge His Excellency, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States of America, to be the head and leader of the great National Union party. His reconstruction policy is at present the basis of that party, and we stand firmly upon it. This is the only party we acknowledge in this State.

"Mr. Worth and the War Debt." We did not read the labored, disingenuous article of the Standard on "Mr. Worth and the War Debt," until we commenced preparing matter for this issue. A more damagable, contradictory and flimsy article has not appeared recently in that paper. If the Standard has a dozen readers weak enough to be misled by that article, they are entitled to the benefit of the law which provides for persons who are decreed to be non compos mentis.

One of the last acts of the Convention, and certainly the most humiliating ever performed by a body claiming to be the embodiment of the sovereignty of the people of a State, and ever put upon record, was the passage of the ordinance repudiating for all time the war debt of the State. Participating in that humiliation, we have been loath to allude to it, lest we might offend.

We observe that several of the intelligent presses of the State, cannot restrain their mortification, but give vent to it in words that burn. Early in the campaign for the Convention, the Standard inserted in its platform, a decided endorsement of the position, that the State war debt should not be assumed. The phraseology of the paragraph, plainly indicated that this was to be a strong feature in the campaign for the Convention by its friends and in the action of the Convention.

The Standard drove the Standard from its position, and forced it to the specialities, that it did not mean that the question was to be discussed in the canvass or acted upon by the Convention, but it simply meant that the whole subject was to be "promptly" let alone, for the present. This was what the Standard desired, and is acquiesced in the arrangement. It was also understood, that in this arrangement the Governor distinctly acquiesced up to the time that Mr. Settle made his topical efforts to force the Convention to repudiate the war debt.

That gentleman so fuddled the subject, that the Convention to get rid of the bother of it, put its quietus upon the measure, by resolving to do what the Standard had agreed should be done, i. e. "promptly" let it alone. There it rested until near the close of the session, when to the astonishment of the Convention, the Governor laid before it, what purported to be a telegram from the President to the Governor, urging the importance of repudiating entirely the State war debt. Some of the members were quite warlike on the occasion, some would not submit to dictation, but Mr. Settle taking advantage of the occasion, soon engineered his ordinance through, under the pressure of what was deemed, the Executive will. But the scheme was only half effected. The matter of repudiation was now gone beyond the touch either of the Legislature or the people. A special friend of the Governor just at that juncture proposed to resurrect it, by submitting the question to the people; but the Convention saw through the scheme, and resolved to let it rest, leaving the responsibility not upon itself or upon the people, but upon the expressed will of the President endorsed by the Governor, and there let it rest.

The telegram has afforded matter for much speculation. We do not regard it as evidence of a disposition on the part of the President to dictate or control or in any wise to fetter the free action of the Convention. And if we had been a member, we should have acted upon our own judgment and responsibility, regardless of the telegram. We think it is evident to every one who examines it, that the President dictated the telegram, not knowing the exact purposes and feelings of the Convention. It is moreover in reply to a letter or telegram sent from this city to him or to that somewhat important personage, Dr. R. J. Powell, "the State Agent." It is a frank avowal of the opinions and wishes of the President, supposing that there was in the Convention a strong disposition to assume the payment of the State war debt, which was not the case. It is therefore due to the President and it was due to the Convention at the time, that along with the President's telegram should have been presented the letter or telegram, to which it is a reply.

But the question is settled, that the State of North Carolina has repudiated her State war debt. But the Standard will have it that it is not settled—that it is a question in the present canvass, and that "Mr. Worth is evidently in favor of paying the war debt," though it has not a particle of proof to sustain the assertion. In Mr. Worth's report addressed to the Governor and by him submitted to the Convention he expresses the opinion that the Convention then about to meet should take no action as to the State debt. He says distinctly that he has arrived at no satisfactory conclusion as to what ought to be done—and therefore submits no recommendation. Gov. Holden approved this report, or he would not have submitted it without his dissent. The Standard had distinctly advised the postponement of this question as we have before shown. It is also known probably to every member of the Convention, that Gov. Holden's agent (improperly called State agent) Dr. Powell, wrote to Gov. Holden a long letter purporting to give an account of long conversations between him and the several heads of President Johnson's cabinet. This was handed round and read by many members of the Convention. Each member of the cabinet (except Secretary Stanton,) is represented as having expressed his decided opinion that the Convention should not consider the State debt. Secretary Stanton is represented as declining to give any opinion, declaring that he will think as the President may think, when he finds out the President's views.

Mr. Worth and Gov. Holden stood on the same ground identically as to the State debt. When Gov. Holden, on the day the Convention had agreed to adjourn, sent in the President's telegram that the State must repudiate all the debt contracted to carry on the war directly or indirectly, and the Convention passed an ordinance to this effect, the question was finally settled. How despicable the attempt to lug this question into the contest and to attempt to make capital by wilful deception! Every man of common sense knows the war debt is now among the by-gones.

The Standard endeavors to make the impression that opposition to Gov. Holden was begun first when the Convention met. This is not so. The Standard began opposition many weeks ago. We charged it upon that paper then, we charge it now. It represents a faction, which has seceded from the Union party in order to oppose Gov. Holden.—Standard.

We told the Standard six weeks ago and we told the Governor that the Standard's course, if pursued, would create opposition. We discouraged opposition and opposed it, until we found there was no way to prevent it. We sustain Mr. Worth because we like his former record and his present views better. We think his views accord better with President Johnson's, and with the people's. If the people prefer Gov. Holden we shall say, Amen! We have no hostility to him and no enmity to any one. But we believe honestly that a majority of the loyal people of North Carolina prefer Mr. Worth.

Don't be Alarmed! The Standard in its alarm, labors hard to impress upon the people that Gov. Holden is the candidate of the National administration. Why does it not prove it? Can't it get a telegram from Washington to that effect? Where is Dr. Powell? Can he not fix up the matter? Joking aside, President Johnson feels no interest in the matter, except that if loyal people of North Carolina make a free choice, Judge Fisher of Mississippi was no doubt thought to be the administration candidate. He was no doubt the choice of Gov. Sharkey, but the people preferred another man. They actually selected an unpardoned rebel, Gen. Humphreys, and they elected him, and the President pardoned him at once. Does that look as if the President makes a choice for the people?

A Mistake. The liberal policy adopted in Mississippi by Gov. Sharkey, has secured him the honorable position of United States Senator. Gov. Perry of South Carolina will also secure to himself the like honorable distinction by pursuing a similar policy. Is it not also absolutely certain, that if a similar policy had been adopted in North Carolina, our Provisional Governor would have secured the same honorable distinction; and none would have rejected more over it, than the editor of the Sentinel, whom the Standard tries hard to make the public believe is an enemy to the Governor.

The "strutted sect" papers delight in styling Southern gentlemen who were supporters of the war, "rebel leaders," "rebel war men," and such like. Are not these very men who delight in these epithets, "pardoned rebels," and do not those whom they stigmatize, occupy the very same stand-point? If those ruffians at their neighbors and fellow-citizens have not been pardoned, then they are worse off than their neighbors. They are still rebels, and they are unpardoned rebels.

Irregularity of the Mails. Why is it that the mails to and from the North are so irregular? There are contractors to carry the mails over our lines of travel from the North, and they should see that there is no unnecessary delay on their respective routes. We understand that there is especial cause of complaint in regard to letters, and papers mailed here for the North, and that many of the papers sent, fail entirely to reach their destination, while the letters become stolen on the road. This is a great outrage upon the public, and we are glad to learn that those to whom it is attributed are to be punished and punished. The Sentinel we regret to say has been delayed on the N. C. R. Road, for the want of enough Route Agents to something else.

Four Candidates in the 4th District. It will be seen that there are now four candidates for Congress in the 4th District. Hon. A. H. Arrington of Nash, announces himself to-day. We have therefore, Col. Russ of Wake, Col. Edwards of Granville, Hon. Josiah Turner Jr. of Orange, and Hon. A. H. Arrington of Nash. The people certainly will have no right to complain of the want of a sufficient number of candidates.

Messrs. Turner and Russ at Smithfield. We have received from a judicious and truthful friend, an extended account of the discussion last Saturday at Smithfield, between Hon. J. Turner and Col. Russ. We much regret that we cannot publish the whole, but the crowded state of our columns admits only a few extracts: CLAYTON, Oct. 24, 1865.

Mr. Editor:—The congressional canvass was opened at Smithfield on Saturday. Mr. Turner led off in the discussion. He gave his record showing what he did to avoid the war. He read from a speech he delivered in the Senate in January 1861.

Mr. Turner then noticed the record and merits of Mr. Worth, and said he should vote for him because he was a true man who had fought for the Union, when Gov. Holden was fighting to destroy it. He fought against a Convention in 1860 and in Feb. 1861. He voted against a Convention when Gov. Holden at the polls voted for Convention.

He fought against secession while Gov. Holden advocated it. Mr. Turner said he would not call Gov. Holden an original seceder for he was afraid. The Governor's son, the editor of the Standard, says he is a liar and coward who so libels the Governor. He did not want such language applied to him, and therefore he would not say it, but he would prove it by Dr. Leach. Col. Russ and this young editor's father, the Governor, and if the son was willing to apply such language to his father, Dr. Leach and Col. Russ, he might do so.

He then read from the Standard in 1850, '51, and '56, where the Governor advocated secession right out. He did not call on Dr. L. and Col. Russ for he thought the Governor's own word was good against his son.

Mr. Turner said editors and politicians who get mad and use hard names, were sure to be in the wrong. Where boys wrestle, the boy that is thrown always gets mad, curses and begins the fight. Just so in politics.

Col. Russ followed, and manifested the same good temper displayed by his competitor. He said he was a Whig as long as that party existed. He then joined the Union party and from that day to this had been a Union man. He was for Gov. Holden, for he had the confidence of the President, the cabinet and the Northern people, and all of these would be pleased at his election. Gov. Holden had the confidence of the North and his election would be more acceptable to them than that of any other man. Upon being interrogated, he said at heart he was for the success of the Federals. Had done nothing voluntarily to aid the rebellion, &c.

Mr. Turner followed, and said he was not for electing a Governor to please any people but the people of North Carolina. He slept under the same roof last night with a Connecticut man. He took him for an intelligent man, who could both read and write. In the presence of Col. Russ, he asked this Northern man if his people when they elected a Governor, ever thought whether it would please North Carolina or not? No, he said. He asked if it would not be regarded as an insult to all Connecticut to be that they must elect a Governor to please North Carolina?

As to Gov. Holden being the President's friend and appointee, he would say this, the President never knew nor does he know now, that the editor of the Standard had denounced him as a man who had been bought with a price. He does not know that the editor of the Standard spoke of him as one of the most elegant devils out of hell. In fear of misrepresentation, he would read from the Standard. He reads "Edward Everett is the most elegant devil out of perdition. Behold the traitor Edward Everett, Andy Johnson, and John C. Breckenridge."

Dr. Powell's name having been mentioned in the discussion, as a clerk and State agent, Mr. Turner proceeded. Dr. Powell is the clerk who kept the President from seeing his (Mr. T's) petition, and did not file it until he got a vote or order upon him from the Attorney General, requiring him to file the petition in the office.

Mr. Turner then showed Gov. Holden was made popular at the North, as Mr. T. was informed by a truthful man in Washington City. There is one Mr. Carpenter, said Mr. T., in Newbern, from Milwaukee. He sought to Charles Henry Foster in his base and infamous attempt to get into the Congress of the United States as a member from North Carolina, soon after the war began. Before the congressional committee, he proved Foster had been duly elected. He wrote letters to the Northern papers giving an account of the Convention that nominated Foster, saying there was some thirty counties represented in the Convention, when there was not one county represented, and only five men in the Convention. Foster, Marble Nash Taylor and three others. Taylor you remember was a preacher, and according to Carpenter and Foster was elected Governor of North Carolina when Foster was elected to Congress.

Professor Hedrick whom you all know as professor of the University at Chapel Hill, had Foster, Carpenter and Marble Nash Taylor headed in their villany and fraud. Professor Hedrick got after them and he told me that Carpenter, before the committee, acknowledged that his statements about Foster's election were false on oath, and he (Carpenter) begged the committee not to expose him, but they did and Carpenter is known in Washington as a false, bad man.

After the surrender, Carpenter landed Gov. Holden in the Northern papers as one who had fought the Davis despotism for four years, that he was always true to the Union.

Governor Holden has been imposed upon by Carpenter to that degree that he has appointed him Notary public for North Carolina, at Newbern. The Governor did not know that Carpenter had puffed him. Nor did he know Carpenter's character. But he knows it now, for he has been written to on the subject. He had no doubt the Governor would remove Carpenter, or the people would remove the Governor.

Mr. Turner thought Col. Russ had done much to aid in the war. He Col. R. thanked, in the Legislature in May 1865, Gov. Ellis for his proclamation calling the people to arms, while he Mr. T. voted alone against thanking him, saying God forbid that he should thank any man for involving us in the war. He felt no gratitude, he should vote no thanks.

Col. Russ, he said was a deserter hunter and catcher,—that gave aid to the war, Col. Russ three times swore to support the Constitution of the Confederate States.

Hon. Josiah Turner—the same paper used to call President Johnson, Andy. It could not hurt him for Josiah Holden and Josiah Cannon to call him Jos. for that was his name.

He might say to Mr. Josiah Holden a dutiful son should never tire of singing praise to his father. But he should beware lest he sicken the public with panegyric on Dad. As to the President refusing to pardon, he has not refused. He never spoke to the President on the subject. He only asked for five minutes interview and the President said politely he should have it. He left Washington before he got the interview. He could say to Mr. Josiah, his pardon would come in spite of Dad. If Buchanan were President Dad and old Bush might confabulate and sell the house from over his children's head. But thank God such men as Bush and Dad had run their race.

He had been approached by Governor Holden's most intimate friends to know how Gov. Graham and himself would like for the Conservatives of the Convention to petition Dad to change his course as to Gov. Graham's and his own petition. He replied that Graham would scorn it; as to himself he never said for pity. Before he would consent for his friends to beg Holden for him, he would see his house sold under the Confiscation act, and his wife and children turned into the woods.

Mr. T. could not hurt by his attacks. He had felt the claws of the old cat too often to be hurt by the mewling of the kitten.

But for Governor, he said, who do you want? What do you want? A seceder who preached the doctrine in 1850-51 and 1856. If you do, take Mr. Josiah Holden's father.

Do you want the man who said all from 16 to 60 should be enrolled and made ready to fight? Then take Gov. Holden. Do you want the man that urged in his paper the taking of Washington, and in that mad attempt lost Richmond and sacrificed so many thousands of your children? If you do, he repeated, take Governor Holden.

But in the name of truth and your country, what sort of man do you want? A man who wanted you against secession? No. An honest man? No. A truthful man? No. A patriot? No. You want a man who has not one but all of these qualities. That man let me tell you is Jonathan Worth.

Mr. Rayner's Letter. RALEIGH, Oct. 25, 1865.

To the Editor of the Sentinel.—DEAR SIR: I notice in the Sentinel of this morning, an editorial, in which you have done me injustice. You say in referring to the meeting held at the Court House on last Saturday, "We learn that Mr. Rayner made a Union speech—was always Union—never anything else."

You have "learned" something that never took place, I made no such speech, I said no such thing.

I was loudly called on by the small number present, not more I suppose than sixty persons, in the remarks which I made, I said that I had been Union, and recognized from the commencement of my political life to the beginning of the war, as one of the strongest and most devoted Union men in the South. That on account of my extreme Unionism I had been abused and denounced as wanting in loyalty to the South, and because I had uniformly deprecated and condemned the agitation of the question of slavery, I had been charged with being an abolitionist. I spoke of two occasions, once in Arkansas and once in Florida, where I had been publicly denounced as an abolitionist, as I had been informed by those who heard it.

I went on to say, that even after Lincoln's election I took ground against disunion. I was in favor of waiting, and fighting for our rights, if they should be assailed in the Union, and under the Constitution. But that when North Carolina, under the force of necessity was compelled to take the position she did, and unite her destinies with the other Southern States, I took ground in favor of sustaining her in that position. That my feelings, my wishes and my hopes, were in favor of the South—that I cannot, and would not say, that I had always been in favor of the United States, and wished to see the Confederacy overthrown; for such had not been the fact. That for the first eighteen months or two years of the war my heart and soul were enlisted in behalf of the South. That I was opposed to the movement and did all I could to prevent it; but that after the issue was made, and war was upon us, I was sincerely anxious for the success of the South.

But, I continued, as soon as I discovered that the Southern people had been mistaken in their calculations—and that the subjugation and ruin of the South were certain, if the war continued—that I was then for stopping the further shedding of blood. That I was among the first in this community to discover that the cause of the South was hopeless—that our conquest and overthrow were inevitable—for I knew and so declared that the longer the South persisted in the war, the harder would be the terms we should have to submit to when we were subdued, and that therefore, I had long been in favor of making peace, even on the basis of reconstruction. That, for myself, I had had scarcely any hope of Southern success, since the battle of Gettysburg, and the surrender of Vicksburg.

I stated, that in regard to secession, I had always regarded it as a fallacy and a humbug. That I had spoken against it in the Legislature of North Carolina, on the consideration of Mr. Ayer's resolutions in 1862, that I had always regarded it as nothing more than the revolutionary right to fight when oppression became intolerable.

I spoke of my name having been mentioned in connection with the election as a member of the Legislature—that if I could be of any service to the people of Wake County they at all have my services, provided I could be elected without any servile or collision with others. That I would not be instrumental in creating discord, divisions and bickering among our people at a time like this, when our country was suffering, prostrate and almost ruined. That I thought peace, concord and harmony ought to be encouraged by all good and patriotic men—that we could not afford to quarrel and dispute with each other at a time like this. That I was willing to be a candidate, if a ticket could, by common consent be agreed on that would be acceptable to the people generally, but that I would not force myself on people as a candidate, and did not wish to be in the way of anybody else. That whilst I would be pleased to represent the whole people of the County without reference to any class or combinations—yet, I did not wish to run as the candidate of any party or faction. I said, much more which I can't think of writing out now.

I advised against making any nomination, as the meeting was so small, and said, that for myself, I did not wish to be a candidate, unless I was assured that would be agreeable to the people of the county, generally, without regard to divisions of opinion on other questions.

Respectfully, E. RAYNER.

WE ARE AUTHORIZED TO ANNOUNCE DR. THOS. L. BANKS, as a candidate for the office of Sheriff in the County of Wake, at the ensuing election.

FOR CONGRESS.

COL. JAMES R. LOVE. WE are authorized to announce Col. JAMES R. LOVE of Jackson County, as a Conservative-National Union Candidate for a seat in the House of Representatives of the United States, in the 7th Congressional District, composed of the Counties of Ashe, Alleghany, Watauga, Yancey, Mitchell, McDowell, Burke, Caldwell, Rutherford, Cleveland, Polk, Henderson, Transylvania, Buncombe, Macon, Haywood, Jackson, Macon, Cherokee and Clay. Oct. 19 1865.

TO THE VOTERS

Of the Fourth Congressional District, composed of the Counties of Orange, Chatham, Granville, Warren, Franklin, Wake, Johnson and Nash.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—I hereby announce myself a candidate to represent you in the next Congress of the United States. The short time between this and the day of election, precludes the possibility of a canvass. Indeed, in the present condition of the country, a heated political campaign should be deprecated by all. The particular measures that will claim the attention of the ensuing Congress, cannot now with certainty be known. Hence, idle speculations and precedent pledges are vain and unnecessary. There is one question however, which seems to be agitating to some extent the minds of the people both North and South, but which properly comes within the purview of the State Legislature. I allude to negro suffrage, to which I am utterly opposed. I am in favor, as no doubt all of us are, of the speedy restoration of civil law in the State.

If I am honored fellow citizens, by your suffrage with a seat in Congress, I can only promise you to guard religiously your best interests—to devote what ability I may possess to the advocacy and preservation of all your rights—and to uphold and maintain, to the full extent of my power, whatever measures will redound to the welfare, freedom and honor of North Carolina. I sincerely and ardently desire that our people may soon be restored to the enjoyment of all their rights both of person and property, and that they may again be blessed with prosperity, liberty and happiness.

Very Respectfully,
Your Obedient Servant,
A. H. ARRINGTON.

[BY AUTHORITY.]

Ordinances and Resolutions passed by the North Carolina State Convention, First Session 1865.

AN ORDINANCE

Appointing a Judge to determine State claims to property:

1. Be it ordained by the delegates of the people in Convention assembled and it is hereby ordained, That Daniel G. Fowle, Esquire, of the City of Raleigh, be, and he is hereby appointed a Judge of the State, to hold a court in the City of Raleigh, for the purpose of hearing such complaints as may be made by the Public Treasurer, or any person under his direction, against such persons as hold and detain, or may have used, sold, destroyed, or otherwise unlawfully converted to their own use, any money or property belonging to the State, and for which, according to law, he ought to account.

2. Be it further ordained, That proceedings to recover such property or its value when converted or wasted may be by bill, in the nature of a bill in Equity, which shall create a lien on such property from the filing of such bill, and the court, whenever it may be deemed expedient, shall have power to issue writs of injunction, sequestration and attachment in order to protect such money or property or its value and secure it to the State; and moreover, shall have power to order the sale of such property at any time pending the controversy, and hold the proceeds to abide the final decree in the cause; and generally shall have all the powers of a Court of Equity of the State, and shall be a Court of Record.

3. Be it further ordained, That the Court shall be at all times open and sit from day to day, and the business shall be conducted under such rules as the Judge may prescribe. He shall appoint a clerk and fix his compensation, and the taxed fees of the clerk and counsel.

4. Be it further ordained, That the Treasurer shall furnish the necessary stationery, and pay out of any moneys on hand all such incidental expenses as may be necessary to enable the court to proceed in its business.

5. Be it further ordained, That all moneys collected under any decree or order of the court, shall be paid to the Public Treasurer, and his receipt shall be taken therefor and handed to the Comptroller; and if any moneys shall be paid or delivered into the office of the court, pending any controversy, to abide the event thereof, the same shall be delivered to the Treasurer as a special deposit for safe keeping, and shall be under the control of the court.

6. Be it further ordained, That the Judge shall be compensated for his services by the General Assembly; and that the services of any Attorney who the Public Treasurer shall employ to aid him, shall be compensated in like manner.

7. Be it further ordained, That until other sheriffs and coroners shall be in office, the Judge shall deputize any person to execute all such process and precepts as he may cause to issue, and such person shall be entitled to the same fees as sheriffs are in like cases; and if such fees will not, in the opinion of the court, compensate the services rendered, the court shall fix them and cause them to be taxed in the costs.

8. Be it further ordained, That either party may appeal to the Supreme Court in the manner allowed for appeals from Courts of Equity; and the bond of the defendant, if the appeal, and a bond is required, shall be transmitted as part of the record, and be subject to the law relating to appeal bonds
in other cases carried by appeal to the said court.

9. Be it further ordained, That if the person herein appointed Judge shall decline to accept the office, or at any time it should become vacant for that, or any other cause, the Provisional Governor is hereby empowered and requested to fill the office with some other competent person; and any person who may fill it shall be qualified by taking the oath of office.

10. Be it further ordained, That nothing in this ordinance contained shall have the effect of disqualifying any person holding said office, from holding at the same time any other office, not incompatible with it.

11. Be it further ordained, That this ordinance may be repealed or modified by the General Assembly.

tober, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five.]

AN ORDINANCE

Recognizing the just debts of North Carolina, and prohibiting the payment of all public debts created or incurred in aid of the late rebellion:

1. Be it declared and ordained by the delegates of the people of the State of North Carolina in Convention assembled, and it is hereby declared and ordained,
That it shall be the duty of the General Assembly of the State, so soon as is practicable, to provide for the payment of all debts and obligations created or incurred by the State, otherwise than in aid of the late rebellion.

2. Be it further declared and ordained, That all debts and obligations created or incurred by the State, in aid of the late rebellion, directly or indirectly are void, and no General Assembly of this State shall have power to assume or provide for the payment of the same, or any portion thereof; nor shall any General Assembly of this State have power to assume or provide for the payment of any portion of the debts or obligations created or incurred,

Carolina, in Convention assembled, That a commission of three persons be appointed and constituted by the Provisional Governor, to prepare and report to the Legislature at its next session, a system of laws upon the subject of freedom, and to designate such laws and parts of laws, now in force, as should be repealed in order to conform the statutes of the State to the ordinance of the Convention abolishing
the institution of slavery.

hundred and sixty-five.]

RESOLUTIONS.

Of thanks, to President Johnson and Governor
Holden:

Resolved by the delegates of the people of North Carolina, in Convention assembled, That the administration of Andrew Johnson, President of the

the people of this State for the manifestation of his purpose to secure to them as early a day as is practicable, the restoration of their constitutions

rights in the Union; and that W. W. Holden, Provisional Governor, deserves our thanks for his zealous and faithful labors to the same end.

SALE OF VALUABLE PROPERTY.

ON TUESDAY, THE 7th DAY OF NOVEMBER, next, I will sell to the highest bidder, (on the premises), Maj. Lewis' Dunn Plantation, containing seven hundred and eighty acres of valuable Pine Swamp Land. One hundred acres of the latter is well drained and in a fine state of cultivation. This farm is situated on the Raleigh and Lenoir Road, 18 miles from the former and 13 from the latter place. Purchasers seldom meet with such inducements as are here offered. Fine timber can be delivered on the R. & G. R. R. 7 miles from the premises. Also the crop of Corn and Fodder, Horses, Mules, Hogs and Cattle, consisting of 2000 Bushels of Corn, and 2000 Oats, Dams and Ox Carts, Wagons and other Agricultural implements too tedious to mention. Terms made known on the day of sale.

J. ROBT. JEFFREYS, Agent for Maj. A. M. Lewis.

Oct. 23-66-67.

North Carolina Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

A MEETING OF THE DIRECTORS OF THE Company on the 27th of September, an assessment of 15 per cent. was levied on all premium Notes in the office of the Company at the time the losses occurred, to be paid in three installments, viz: six, nine and twelve months from 1st October, 1865.

The amount of premium Notes on hand, $220,000. Allowed Losses, 10,000. Unsettled do, 7,500.

(There are some losses not yet reported, the amount of which, of course, cannot now be stated.)

The assessment may appear to be disproportionate to the amount of the losses; but the Directors, taking into consideration the changes in property by sale, without transfer of policies, by destruction during the war, &c., do not think that more will be raised by it than will be needed to meet the actual wants of the Company.

There will be necessarily some delay in the payment of the losses. It is hoped, however, that there will be no complaint on this account; especially when it is recollected that payment in some cases, was tendered in Confederate currency and refused.

The Company is prepared to take risks as in former times, and on as favorable terms. Address all letters to the Secretary.

PLANTATION FOR RENT.
THE SUBSCRIBER, HAVING ENGAGED IN another business, wishes to rent out his plantation for the ensuing year. He does not want more than eight, nor less than six hands worked upon it. For this number of hands, the opportunity for making a crop is unusually fine. The chance for COTTON AND CORN, is very good, and for TOBACCO AND OATS, superior. There are seventy thousand tobacco hills which may be put in, that will make good tobacco without manure, and there is plenty of the very best tobacco land that may be cleared. The location is in a very fine neighborhood, three miles from Macon Depot on the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road, and is one of the most healthy and delightful in the County. The residence contains six rooms, and there are all the necessary outhouses and a good orchard. He will sell everything necessary to carry on the farm--stock, crop, team, plantation implements, &c., &c. Address, or call upon
